

Lexmark strengthens offerings for public sector - streamlines processes, improves productivity

NEWSBYTE, Dec. 6, 2011 - Lexmark International, Inc. (NYSE: LXX) has enhanced its offerings for the public sector by combining the power of Lexmark multifunction product (MFP) technology with ImageNow from Perceptive Software.

To save valuable time when submitting documentation for services, the Lexmark MFP and associated software provide intuitive scanning instructions for the user via the touch screen, and more importantly, detect errors and omissions in the documentation that could create lengthy delays in obtaining services such as food stamps, unemployment or social security benefits.

The Public Assistance Intake and Recertification Solution works with existing case management systems to simplify any document-driven process, enhancing constituent service and increasing staff productivity.

Additional details and benefits of some of Lexmark's key public sector solutions include:

- Public Assistance Intake and Recertification Solution - Streamlines the process of public assistance applications while reducing costs associated with misplaced documents and boosting employee productivity.
- Print Release - Lexmark's Print Release solution allows easy management and control of print jobs and ensures the security of confidential documents.
- HR Onboarding and Invoice Processing workflows - Automates workflows and helps eliminate manual entry within the processes essential to business, such as hiring and invoicing.
